Storyboard

MATT STRAYER

INTERACTION – HOME PAGE

John visits the home page of the application, where he is met with the options of:

- Creating an account
- Logging in
- Browsing flies
- Entering materials on hand and submitting

These actions can take place by selecting the menu on the top left, signing in/registering can take place here as well as by clicking on the user logo, and finding flies with your materials takes place in the main body of the app.

Creating Profile

- If John decides to create his profile, he's taken to the Account creation page where he enters his name, email, and a password and then clicks submit.
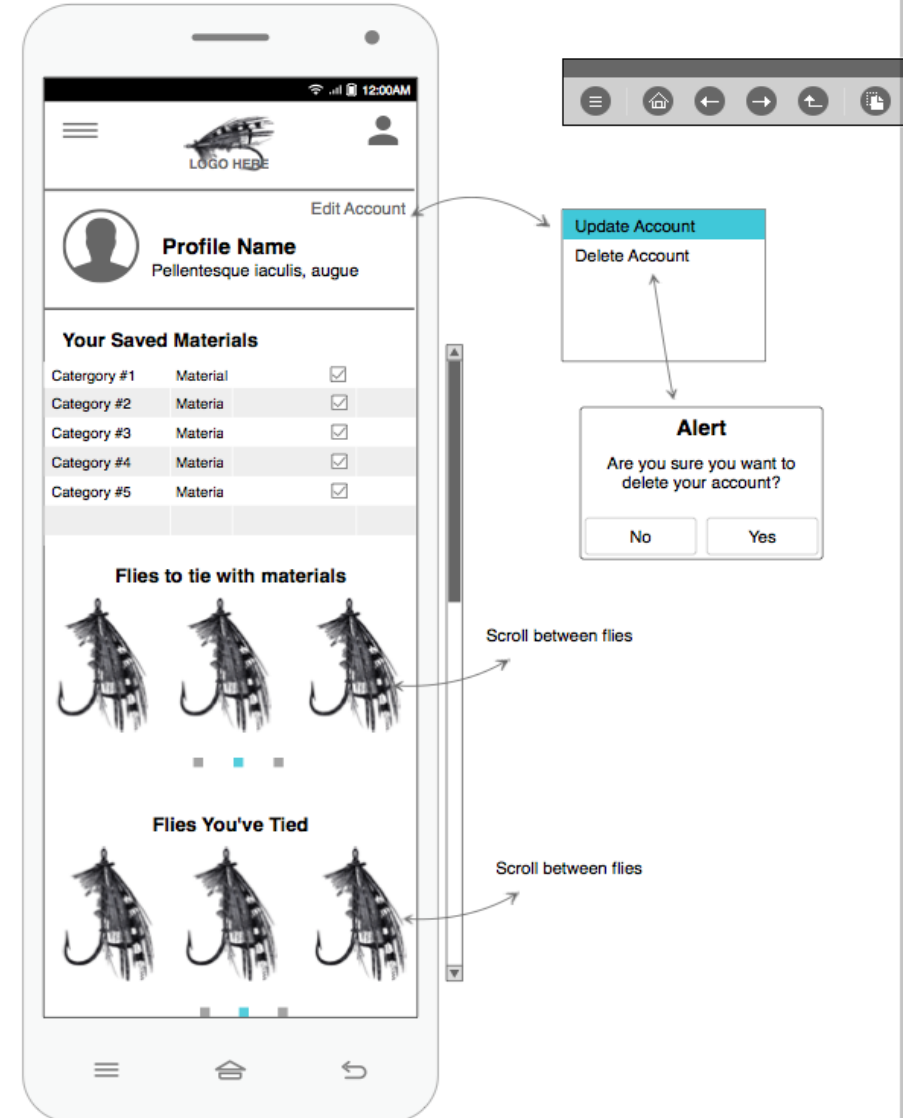

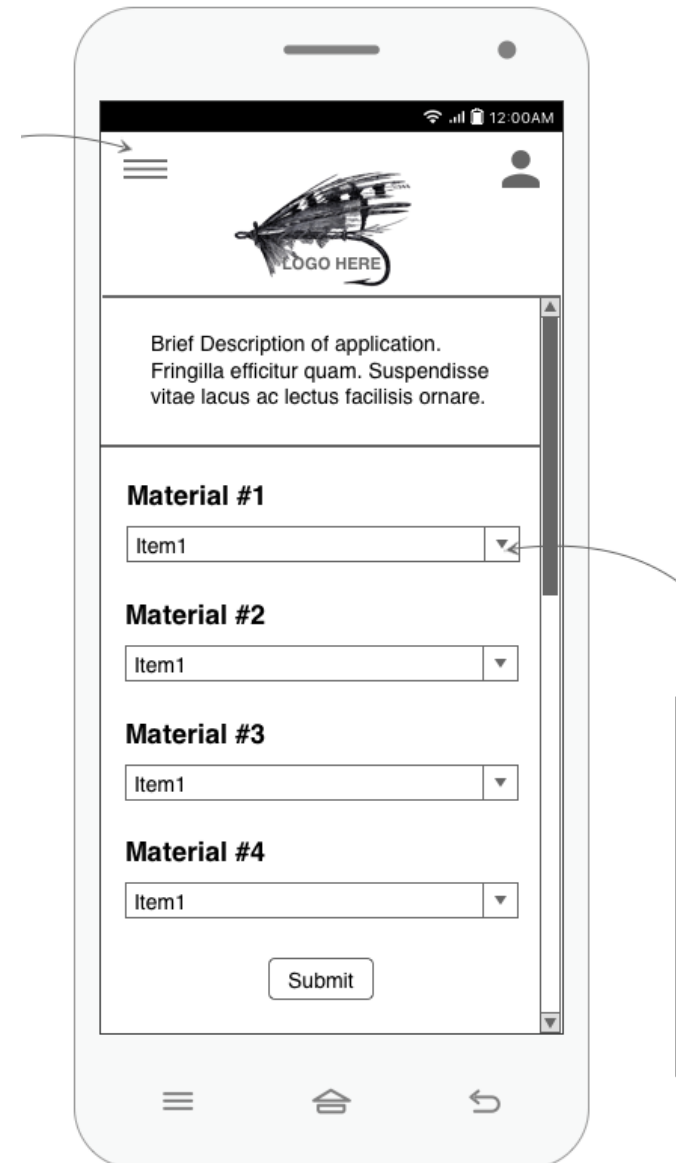

Profile Page

- Here John can view his profile page where he will see the flies he has available based on the materials he's saved. He will also have the option of updating his account, or deleting it if he wishes.
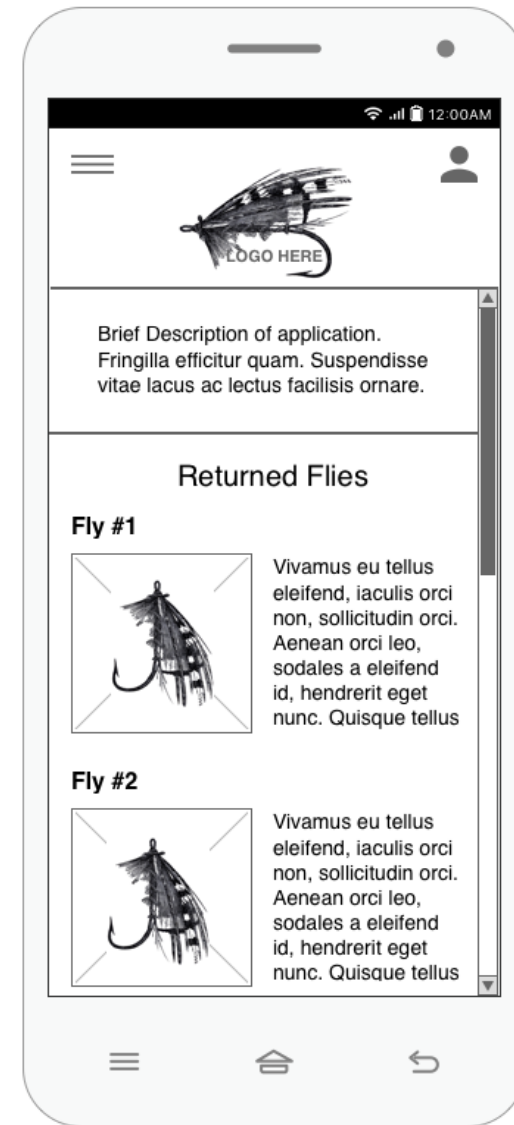

Back to Home Page

- He's then taken back to the home page where he has the options now to:
  - Insert materials
 - View profile page
  - Browse flies

Viewing Results

If John decides to enter materials that he has on hand, he'll start by clicking on the different category sections and checking the materials he has. The categories are divided into a hook section, body section, thread section, bead, etc. The user then can scroll through a larger list of materials and select what they have on hand. Once done, they hit the submit button and the page refreshes to show the list of flies they can tie with the materials they chose. It can be a short list or long list (where the user can scroll down through) all depending on the materials they have.
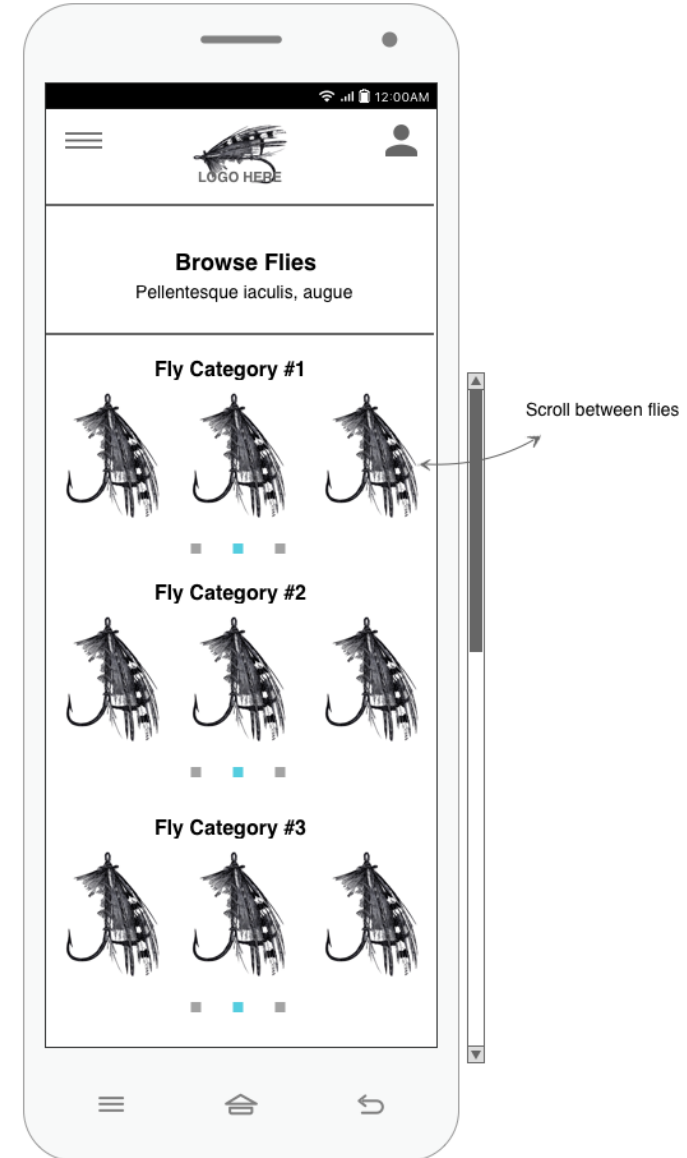

Viewing results, continued

- If the user has entered the materials in while logged in, this will save to their account, where the results will be saved and can be viewed on their account page.

- They can see those flies, as well as flies they've already tied and want to save.
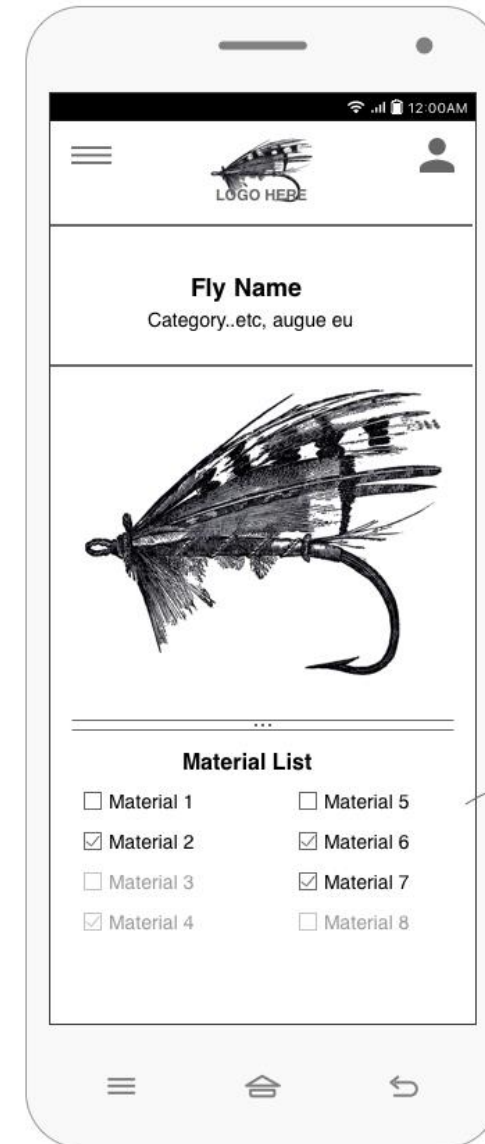

Browsing Flies

- The user can also view a larger collection of flies that the app has stored in its database. The flies can be browsed by category of flies (relating to fish they are caught on or how they are used).

- The user can click on individual flies (seen on next slide)

Viewing Individual Flies

- At any time a viewer has flies on their page, be it the Browse Page, Home Page, or their Account Page, they can select a fly to see more details. They are brought to the individual fly page.

- It shows a list of materials, as well as the ones you own with a check mark.

Shows list of materials and checks next to the ones you already own